Overview

The Global Learning System (GLS) is very simple to use and also administer, and yet it is extremely powerful. Some of the interesting GLS features are:

- The unlimited user license, combined with the unlimited number of courses, lets organizations train their entire staff on any and all subjects without incurring additional licensing costs.
- The GLS is accessible via the Internet, 24 hours a day. Students can study from home, from their office, or at a training facility. Administrators can monitor students and work within the system without having to be located at their work computer.
- No software is installed on the student or administrator's computer. The entire GLS system is server-based, and is hosted by WSI in its Data Centre in Toronto.
- The GLS has a three-level curriculum structure: Course > Lesson > Unit. There are no limits to the number of each that can be created.
- It includes a Web Board system that lets students and coaches communicate via the GLS, and a Notebook for students to keep notes as they proceed through the courses.

The following pages discuss the features and benefits of the GLS in more detail.
